

ABSTRACT

A simple and efficient method of producing mammalian reovirus is developed using HEK 293 cells. The method provides for fast production of reovirus in high yield.

5 Furthermore, this method provides for a simpler purification procedure of the produced reovirus.